Profile

The knowledge I have gained throughout my design education and vocations has given me the skills and confidence to take a brief from concept through to final realisation. I particularly enjoy the investigative phase of a project; I am a keen researcher and enjoy the initial ideas stage.

My approach to design is fresh and versatile, my work varies from creative artwork to corporate collateral and campaigns. I am a good communicator and listener, these attributes allow me to translate ideas effectively to the client.

I find that busy environments motivate me as well as working remotely, I can work independently or as part of a team. I'm not afraid to ask for advice and I enjoy assisting others with any problems they have.

With 10 plus years of experience in the design industry in both in-house and agency roles, my dedication to design means I strive to achieve the best outcome, even if this means putting in extra hours.

Technical skills

I have an array of knowledge ranging in different computer software on both Apple Mac and PC desktops. These include Microsoft Office applications (Word/Excel/Powerpoint/etc), the Adobe Creative Suite (Photoshop, Illustrator, InDesign, After Effects and Dreamweaver).

I also have experience with web apps such Google Docs, Slides, Sheets, Gmail, Wordpress, Asana and Figma.

Strong presentation skills both practically and verbally, good organisation and communication skills and very versatile towards teamwork or single work. I believe I am a quick learner too, if there are processes, systems or skills that were integral to a job I would be happy to study/learn.
